

Josh is a Minnesota native and Army Veteran who has been in Colorado since in 2009. His personal interests include motorcycles, health and fitness, zombie books and movies, and quality time with his wife and two daughters. Josh describes himself as a compulsive learner and is extremely proud of his Audible.com library and its over 275 books.

Josh holds degrees in business and psychology and brings his personal recovery experience of over 20 years to the Hornbuckle Foundation team where he has used his personal experience to provide guidance to those in recovery since February 2022